

Functionalities We've added

1. A button that saves the (X,Y) coordinates of the phones level to a RecyclerView. I can then view this RecyclerView and the list of all the historical level coordinates with timestamps on a separate view.
2. Implement firebase with your application, so that it will save the level bubbles current X and Y positions for where the level bubble currently is WHEN the user hits save. This should also save a timestamp to firebase.